

A hand-drawn diagram of a simple electrical circuit. It consists of a battery (represented by two cells), a light bulb, and a switch. The components are connected in a single loop, forming a closed circuit. The battery is on the left, the bulb is at the top, and the switch is on the right. The switch is shown in the 'open' position, with a gap in the wire.

2012